JUDGE REMAINS SILENT

President in His Statement, Says Taft's Defeat Would Bring Everlasting Satisfaction to That Set of Men Behind Foraker.

On behalf of the colored men at all." TAFT IS SILENT.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 21.—Judge Taft read and re-read the production of President Roosevelt inspired by the Foraker-Hearst controversy. He recalled vividly writing a letter to which the president referred, but after considering the question carefully decided to make no addition to the subject at this time. Judge Taft did not indicate that he would hereafter make a statement.

FORAKER CANCELS VISIT.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 21.—Announcement was made tonight that Foraker had cancelled his engagement to speak at the Republican convention at Trenton next Friday.

NOTHING TO SAY.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 21.—Senator Foraker stated that owing to the lateness of the hour he would not make any reply to the statement issued tonight by President Roosevelt relative

On OYSTER BAY, Sept. 21.—Late today Secretary Loeb gave to representatives of the press a formal statement by the president which was called forth by the recent statement of exchanges between W. R. Hearst and Senator Foraker. Hearst in public utterances had accused the Senator of relations with the Standard Oil Company, as inconsistent with his duties as Senator, and his attitude as representative of Republican policies and professions. In today's statement Roosevelt makes another appeal for the support of Taft and declares that his defeat would bring "Lasting satisfaction to but one set of men, namely, to those men who, as shown in the correspondence published by Hearst were behind Foraker, the opponent of Taft within his own party and who is now behind Governor Haskell and his associates, the opponents of Taft in the opposite party." The statement embodies a letter written by Taft to a friend in Ohio on July 20, 1907, in which the present Republican candidate refused to acquiesce in the plan of the state central committee to endorse Taft for the presidency and Foraker for re-election to the senate in a single resolution. The president points out that Taft's attitude has been always directly opposed to that charged against Foraker by Hearst regarding the moneyed interests. The president cites the Brownsville affair as a case where agitation was the phase of an effort, "By the representatives of a certain law defying corporations to bring discredit upon the administration." It was, he says, in a large part, "not a genuine agitation to the position Judge Taft has taken in the matter of the non-enforcement of Senator Foraker for re-election. The Senator said he would probably read tonight a copy of the statement handed to him by a representative of the Associated Press. Suggestion was made that he might wish his answer to appear in the editions of the newspapers of the country in which the president's statement would be published. Foraker in reply said: "I am not so fond of the president's company as that." He further said he might make a statement tomorrow if after consideration he deemed a reply necessary.

BISHOP RESTORES PEACE

Party of 1,000 Headed by Bishop Rhode, Demolish Street Car and Injure Occupants When Motorman Runs Car Through Their Parade.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—A street car was demolished and its crew injured yesterday when a religious parade of 1,000 persons led by Bishop Paul Rhode, became a maddened mob in Chicago Heights.

It was with great difficulty that the bishop, who was on his way to dedicate a new cemetery, prevailed upon the marchers to restore order.

The riot took place near the city hall in the suburbs, when the motor man of the car attempted to pass through the line of the parade. The marchers became offended when their ranks were disturbed and in an instant the air was filled with flying stones and missiles. The windows of the car were smashed, the woodwork broken and the crew hurt.

The passengers in the car fled in terror and several suffered slight wounds from broken glass and crowding

H. H. Ingalls, Warrenton.
B. L. Ward, Astoria.
M. Leahy, Olney.
Ludwig Larsen, Astoria.
John F. McDermott, Hammond.
J. D. Heckard, Seaside.

In accordance with the terms of the new law Judge McBride made a drawing for a grand jury at the opening of the September term of the circuit court yesterday, and the gentlemen whose names appear above were the ones chosen. Mr. McMath, of Westport, was appointed foreman by Judge McBride. Later the jury was instructed in its duties and privileges by the judge. Two of the criminal cases that later appeared before the court were first passed upon by the grand jury and true bills returned.

The grand jury remained in session all during the afternoon, and it is expected that it will continue its sessions at least throughout the week without interruption.

The fact that the grand jury is in session is an interesting and highly important fact to many. Just what it will do is of course entirely problematical. For months there have been rumors of gambling, of saloons being kept open on Sunday in violation of the state law, and of other matters of equal importance, not the least of these being the alleged fact that three

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Chairman Mack of the democratic national committee is planning to force, fighting on the Pacific Coast and during October speakers of national prominence will be sent west to aid in swinging all of the debatable states into the line of the democratic column. Mack said tonight that reports received from California, Oregon, Montana and Colorado were of such character as to lead him to believe that with a strong effort, they would be captured for Bryan and Kern. "I regard the middle west states," said Mack tonight, "as safely democratic and our efforts will not be to hold our advantage which will be made easier by the route of the republicans. The national committee is receiving most glowing reports from the Pacific Coast and we will make added efforts to bring California, Oregon and other states into line. Fishermen Want a Continuation of Injunction Restrains Oregon Authorities From Enforcing Present Law, Until Court Decides Case.

PORTLAND, Sept. 21.—A reasonably early settlement of the dispute between the States of Oregon and Washington over the enforcement of the Oregon salmon fishing laws in the Washington waters of the Columbia river are promised. Assistant Attorney General C. C. McDonald of Washington went to Salem today and filed with the supreme court of Oregon the necessary papers to secure the removal of the "Chris Nielson case" to the United States courts. The Nielson case has been in the courts for several years and involves exactly the same principles as does the present controversy, viz., right of Oregon to enact legislation affecting the waters of the Columbia river, and enforcing its laws on the Washington side of the river. In the meantime the fishermen will ask a continuation of the injunction restraining the Oregon authorities from enforcing the present law, until the supreme court of the United States decided the case, which it is believed it will be able to do within three months.

MR. SETTEM STEPS OUT, MR. MACK IN

Many Will Regret to Learn of Resignation of the Well Known Astoria Water Bailiff

The many friends of Ole J. Settem, the water bailiff, will regret to learn that he has placed his resignation in the hands of H. C. McAllister, the State Fish Warden, who is in the city. Announcement of this fact was made by Mr. McAllister to a representative of The Astorian last night.

Mr. Settem is widely known in Astoria and up and down the river, and he has always been approved as a man of strong and conscientious views and that he has done his duty as bail-off is attested by his record.

Mr. Settem's place is to be taken by W. A. Mack, for many years water bailiff and game warden on the upper river. Mr. Mack has been in the city for the past week or more and has done much in the matter of trying to stop the fishing on the Washington side before the injunctions were issued. It is said of Mr. Mack that he has made more arrests in this work than any other one engaged in it, and to him is given the credit of clearing the upper river at a time when the conditions were very bad. As a game warden it is said that once he arrested, and convicted, his own cousin.

Mr. Mack will have an office here and will make Astoria his home. He will be authorized to distribute licenses. It is presumed that Mr. Settem's resignation will be accepted by the first of the month.
